Conrade: Away! You are an ass; you are an ass!

Dobgerry: Do'st thou not suspect my place? Do'st thou not suspect my years? O, that he were here to write me down an ass! But, masters, remember that I am an ass; though it be not written down, yet forget not that I am an ass. No, thou villain, thou art full of plety, as shall be proved upon thee by good witness. I am a wise fellow, and, which is more, an officer, and, which is more, a householder, and, which is more, as pretty a piece of fiesh as any is in Messina, and one that knows the law, go to; and a rich fellow enough, go to; and a fellow that bath had losses, and one that hath two gowns and everything handsome about him. Bring him away O, that I had been writ down an ass!-"Much Ado About Nothing."

INOPERATIVE.

"But the direction contained in the joint resolution which I have signed will remain almost inoperative unless money is provided to carry out the investigations in question, and unless the Commission. In carrying them out, is authorized to administer ouths and compel the attendance of witnesses. As the resolution now is, the Commission, which is very busy with its legitimate work and which has no extra money at its disposal, would be able to make the investigation only in the most partial and unsatisfactory manner, and, moreover, it is questionable whether it could, under this resolution, administer oaths at all or compel the attendance of witnesses. If this power were disputed by the rartles investigated, the investigation would be held up for a year or two until the courts passed upon it, in which case, during the period of waiting, the extent and in the manner already prescribed under its organic law, so that the passage of the resolution would have achieved no good result whatever.

The story of Mrs. Uncapher wa corroborated to some extent by E. E. Hunt, who was at the next house when he heard the trouble and saw Teltsworth leaving the place and shaking his fist at the woman, and heard some of the expressions he used. The knocking of Teitsworth, he said, made him think that there was a carpenter at work, and he was much surprised at the denouement which took place a few minutes later.

Then Teltsworth took the stand in his own defende. He was asked if he had not been angry, and admitted that he had been greatly provoked by being kept waiting when he could hear the woman walking around inside the He also said that she had called him an old villain, and ordered him out of the house, and that he hed told her that he would not go until he was ready. In regard to the names he had called Mis. AS TO CONTRACT.

Upon the provision of the bill giving the Commission authority over the rates of connecting roads, the Scnator said:
"One of the objections to the bill is that this is an attempt to make a contract for two roads where the carriers themselves refuse to contract. The fact is that it is not an attempt to make a contract, but it is an attempt to impose a condition where certain obligations exist, but the parties upon whom the obligations rest refuse to settle the conditions of their performance."

Mr. Clapp also pointed out that objection is made to the bill that it is unconstitutional in that in provides a severe penalty, of which, it is urged, the faculty of the processing the rest in the price which the carrier must possibly pay to take a suit into court.

carrier must possibly pay to take a suit into court.

"But" he said. "this objection has been carefully guarded against by provision of the bill. It provides that the order of the Commission shall go into effect unless it is restrained or vacated by the court. While a citizen subject to penalty for violation of the law may take his risk in a temporary restraining order, which. If he falls to make good, may subject him to the penalties which have been temporarily suspended, yet no such case arises under this law, for under this law there is no order to violate, for the court makes its restraining order. The act of the court in such a case would be limited to the resuraint by the court of the effect temporarily of the action of the Commission.

Reason for Strange Contraction of Muscle.

BERKELEY, March 7 .- Several years ago Professor Loeb made a discovery which has helped to throw light on some of the most obscure problems of physiclogy. He found that he could stimulate living tissue chemically, if the tissue were capable of stimulation, by using solutions of substances which precipitate calcium. Calcium is one of the elements which occurs in the blood and tissues and upon whose presence the performance of some vital function depends.

One of the most significant properties of calcium is that, in solution, it tends to neutralize the effects produced by the chemical element sodium. And the significant fact is that where soft-um watens tissues into activity the presence of calcium destroys this ef-fect. Muscle fiber soaked in a solution or sodium chloride will twitch rhythmic-aily as though it had a case of nerves. The addition of a solution of calcium chloride will calm the muscle at onte, chloride will calm the muscle at once, stop the twitchings.

Both sedium and calcium exist in the blood in solutions of such strength that they tend to neutralize each other in normal individuals. When a person exhibits signs of nervousness in over-excitability, twitching of muscles and the like, it is by no means unreasonable to suspect that the normal balance between sodium and calcium have been upset, and that sodium has gained the ascendency. Any causo, gained the ascendency. Any cause, then which may have served to lessen the quantity of calcium in the blood or in the organ exhibiting the specific disorder, my be said to be the cause of the disorder itself.

PROFESSOR LOEB'S SOLUTION. PROFESSOR LOGES SOLUTION.

Precipitants of calcium are well known. Among them are the oxalates. In experiments so recent that they have not had time to get cold, Professor Loeb has shown that one of the most troublesome phenomena connected with the electrical stimulation of the control of t muscle yields a clever explanation when the muscle is treated with an ex-

The phenomena is this: When the Alats.

The phenomena is this: When the two wires or electrodes from a galvanic battery are placed on a muscle and the current is then allowed to pass, the muscle begins to contract first at the negative pole or cathode. That is the point of stimulation. Why? Here Dr Loeb's experiment with the oxalate surgests the answer.

It was found that the excitability of the muscle was much increased by the administration of the oxalate. Now, since it was known beforehand that the oxalate precipitates calcium, the inference was natural that the removal of calcium from the blood in the muscle had permitted the sodium to overstimulate the tissue. Furthermore, the excitability of the muscle was increased at the cathode because both the sodium and calcium in solution tend to collect there while the current is on. With the removal of calcium from the cathode, the muscle would obviously contract there first.

But oxalates do not occur in the to Japan by Enslin Marsily, son of Mr.

The former may transfer impulses from one line to another. They may even originate impulses of their own, as in an act of will, without the aid of a sense organ, such as the eye. The latter cannot originate impulses, but they can receive and conduct them. They are highly sensitive to certain types of stimulation. Are the cortical cells sensitive as well?

FORMER THEORY REVERSED.

Years ago a number of investigators reported that they could stimulate the cortical cells in the brain by powdering the surface of the cortex with various chemical substances. Recent criticism has shown their methods to have been faulty, and Dr. Maxwell has just been able, after the most careful experimen-tation, to reverse their conclusion.

Remembering that the chemical sub-straces which might be expected to stimulate the cortex, if that were possible, were precipitants of calcium, he selected sodium exalate, sodium citrata and used sodium chloride, creatin and creatinin as well, all in dilute solutions One or two drops of each of these solu tions were injected into the cortex at different depths. The surface was also bathed with them in turn. The latter procedure had not the slightest effect. The deeper the injection, however, the more pronounced was the reaction; that is, the nearer the white, nervous matter, the greater the stimulation. It was clear, then, that chemical stimulation affects only the nerves, never the cell bodies of which the cortex is

It had already been shown by experimenters and the experience of surgeons that the cortex is not stimulated tory that different portions of the brain governed different organs of the body. Electrodes inid upon the sur-face of the cortex at a particular point would cause movements in the hind-leg of an etherized dog which had been trephined for the purpose. Did-the cortical cells respond to the stimu-lus, or did the current spread to the nerves beneath? Dr. Maxwell's results indicate that the latter alternative is the correct one, and that the corteal cells, in splie of their highly sensitive change Reports on solidation. Consolidation.

Consolidation without absorbing any one section out of its individuality was discussed in the Council Chamber last evening by a committee of the Central Oakland Club and the executive committee of the Federated Improvement Clubs. The general sentiment was that under a consolidated city and county government Berkeley could still be Berkgovernment Berkelsy could still be Alameda, Oakland still be Oakland, but the tex rate could be $1.50 on the $100 instead of $3. The outcome of the meeting was the appoint-ment of a committee to carry on the movement. The committee is as follows: W. B. Thomas, M. P. Manning, I. A. Underwood, J. C. Estey, Dr. R. Holmes.

W. B. Thomss, M. P. Manning, I. A. Underwood, J. C. Estey, Dr. R. Holmes. The meeting was called to order with A. D. Holmes in the chair as chairman and C. A. Committ officiating as secretary. The chairman called upon the various members present for their views and all responded in the same vein, namely, that cansolidation was the only thing to do.

I. A. Underwood presented a communication relative to the poor service given by the Oakland Traction Company on Shattuck avenue. The charter, he stated, called for a ten-minute service, while the raliway people have been maintaining a fifteen or twenty-minute schedule. The matter was referred to a committee, consisting of I. A. Underwood, C. A. Committ and W. H. Thomas, which will place the matter before the Council in the form of a resolution.

FIRE PROTECTION.

A. D. Hölmes reported for the committees on the fire protection of Oakland. He stated that he had consulted with the Board of Public Works, the fire chief and all interested, and found that the protection now afforded is of as high a character as can possibly he had under the circumstances. The chief difficulty lies in that, he went on, there are not in that the went on, there are not to the fact that many of the water mains are too small to attach hydrants to.

Chairman Holmes then started the consolidation talk and called up practically all present to give their ideas.

Lydia E. Pinkham'e Vegetable Compound was prepared to meet the needs of woman's system at this trying period of her life. It invigorates and strengthens the femule organism and builds up the weakened nervous system.

For special advice regarding this im portant period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. and it will be furnished absolutely free of charge. The present Mrs. Pinkham is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham, her assistant before her decease, and for twenty-five years since her advice has been freely given to sick

A hawker, a number of housewives of social standing, a "stove polish" with supernatural qualities, and a conservation of soot are the features of the newest deception which has been the newest deception which has been introduced by fakirs into this city.

Just how numerous may be the fakir's victims may not be stated at this kirs victims may not be stated at this time, but it is understood that a cluster of them resides near the intersection of Orchard street and Telegraph avenue, and among them may be mentioned Mrs. A. Orchard street anl Mrs. Parker and others in that neighborhood.

The hawker was deferential, suave, flippant and obsequious.

He had a stove "polish" which was nameless, but its qualities were lustrous and its effect was lasting.

Three tins of it would last a year and would cost only $1.50. "I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Were the ladies willing to save the soot of stoves where gas stoves were not used and give it to the fakir when he should return to apply the "polish?" Certainly they were. Indeed, they immediately set to work to conserve the soot and kept at the work of conservation until they commenced to wonder why the "polish man" was not coming around to polish their stoves.

"Polish your stove." exclaimed the other. "Have you been victimized, too?"

Then other ladies in the vicinity joined the duo and all of them had hought the "polish man's polish" and some of them had been saving soot. There was an indignation meeting right there.

Soot Plays a Prominent There Is a Noticeable Engraver Guilty of Big Steal Through Duplicate Dwindling in the Pay Checks. Bull Ranks.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE.) CHICAGO, March 7 .- The principal in NEW YORK, March 3.—The specula-tive situation falls to show any improve-ment. There has been a noticeable dwindling of numbers in the bull ranks. Company pay checks in South Chicago has been discovered. According to his nas been discovered. According to his own confession, Louis Longpre is the man. He was arrested yesterday in the office of the Western Bank Note Company, where he has been employed as an engagement. and a waning courage on the part of those who have been conspicuous on that side of the market. The impres-sion that the top wave in the securities engraver. Longpre professed his innocence, but after being closely questioned, he confessed that he made the plate from which market has been reached, for some time to come at least, is steadily growing, and from day to day it becomes increasingly evident that the technical situation has from day to day it becomes increasingly evident that the technical situation has been materially weakened by liquidation quietly effected when the market was at its best in December and January. As prices decline there is a singular absence of inside support, even from the prominent leaders or insiders who are popularly supposed to be on the bull side of the market. As a matter of fact, many of these gentlemen are convinced that the market must seek a lower level before any substantial inducements can be found for reinvestment or for the conducting of a fresh bull campaign. At the moment the market is suffering somewhat from absenteeism; a large number of wealthy operators taking the respite from business responsibilities which is becoming so customary at the moreover, has been considerably swelled by the quiet disappearance of numerous individuals who wish to avoid testifying before the various investigating committees, which are not confined to New York alone but are at work in Washington and other political centers. The investigating committees, which are not confined to New York alone but are at work in Washington and other political centers. The investigating committees, which are not confined to New York alone but are at work in Washington and other political centers. The investigation fever has had not a little to do with the present reaction in Wall Street. It has not only caused a good deal of personal anxiety among many of the responsible heads of corporations, whose doings would not stand the glare of sensational publicity; but it has also made more difficult the promotion of new financial district, which more or less threatens the spirit of harmony that has prevailed during the last three or four years. New lines of cleavage are being formed and antagonisms created which sooner or later must show themselves in market operations. It is unnecessary to cite the friction and animosity which have been created by the insurance investigation, none of which was anticipated in the remotest degree a year ago.

some of the checks. There are several others under arrest, but the police refuse to tell their identity.

Longpre has been under police surveillance for a number of years and when the pay check forgery was perpetrated he was suspected. In several instances he had been arrested on suspicion of being concerned in other big forgeries, one in Joliet, which is said to have netted $10.080, and others in cities of the East. He always escaped conviction, however.

Police officials from various cities, including Joliet and Buffalo, have been notified and will send representatives here to identify some of the gaug.

WATER BRIEF FILED IN SUPREME COURT

There was filed by the defendant, in the Supreme Court of this State, today, the brief on appeal in the case of the Contra Costa Water Company versus the Contra Costa Water Company versus the City of Oakland. The brief of the appellants is signed by J. E. McErroy, city attorney of the city of Oakland, and Carl H. Abbott of the firm of Fitzgerald & Abbott of San Francisco. For the purpose of this suit Mr. Abbott has been acting as deputy city attorney of the city of Oakland. The brief contains 425 pages and has been carefully preparted on behalf of the city. Mr. Abbott has spent several months with Mr. McErroy in preparing a the city's exceptions in the case. The decision of Judge Hart fixing a value of $7,000,000 on the plant of the Contra Costa Water Company is now fairly before the Supreme Court. The attorneys for the Contra Costa Water Company will now have an opportunity to answer the points made in the brief filed by the city of Oakland. pated in the remotest degree a year ago. Nobody foresaw the consequences of disputes which began in the Equitable last summer; and, while the results eventually are certain to be beneficial to the public and will unquestionably raise managerial standards, still the interventing period of agitation and readjustment is a disturbing one; impairing confidence temporarily and necessarily having an adverse effect in higher financial circles. Fortunately, our large corporations will in future be conducted upon more rigid lines, and the mesalilances between our big corporations and unscrupulous politicians should become more difficult of accomplishment and less likely to be repeated. Already our large insurance companies, upon which great bankers have largely depended in their syndicate operations, have withdrawn for good from all transactions of that character. In future these great syndicates will have to look direct to individual purchasers for their market, and will lack the support of these great organizations which has always been highly important in times of stress. The effect will probably be to make such syndicates more careful in their future commitments; a charge that will prove beneficial, and wilch has fortunately taken place during a favorable period.

bone of contention. It would be an east bone of contention. It would be an easy matter to form a syndicate in this city to subscribe to one-half of $5,000,000 capital and equally so to obtain the other half from Germany and France, and as this would be an individual enterprise and one in which our government would take no part, neither France nor Germany could take exception to it. A charter for such an institution would be of easy attainment through the Legislature of New Jersey. HENRY CLEWS.

turning with their accustomed freedom. Very shortly the demands incidental to the April settlements will be enforced and the money market is in no sense prepared. The chief difficulty is not in the supply of money, for that has been largely augmented during the last few years, but in the large sums locked up in speculative operations and in the financing of various deals. Of course liquidation in such quarters is very unwelcome and might he disturbing, but if enforced gradually and with discretion the effect in the long run will be nightly beendical. Another demand upon the money market is the increased offerings of new securities. Since January first over $400.00,000 of new securities have been issued, and a much larger quantity authorized. Unless we are mistaken, this is a larger output of new securities. Han occurred three years ago when the market suffered so much from congestion. Just now we are suffering from an over-supply of securities, also the over-expansion in loans in addition to other drawbacks, which of themselves are sufficient to depress the market. The wonder is that values stand up so well sagainst such tremendous odds; and there is no doubt, were it not for the confidence inspired by satisfactory business conditions in all parts of the country, we should stand exposed to a pretty severe reaction in Wall Street.

THE PLAGUE OF WINTER

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the return of cold weather, for at the first cold breath of the season this plague of Winter is fanned into life with all its miserable symptoms. The nostrils are stopped up, and a constant dropping of mucus back into the throat keeps up a continual/hawking and sp ting, the patient has dull headaches, ringing noises in the ears and a half sick, depressed feeling all the time. Every inner lining and tissue of the body becomes inflamed, and secretes an unhealthy matter which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and the disease becomes constitutional. The catarrhal poison brings on stomach troubles, affects the Kidneys and Bladder, attacks the soft bones of the throat and head and if not checked leads to Consumption. A disease so deep-seated and dangerous cannot be washed out, neither can it be smoked away Sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., are useless, because they only reach the membranes and tissues, while the real cause of the disease is in the blood. S. S. S. cures Catarrh because it attacks it through the blood; it goes into the circulation and drives out all unhealthy accumulations and catarrhal matter, and when this is done every part of the system receives a supply of rich, pure blood. Then the inflamed mem-branes and tissues heal, all discharge ceases, the depressed feeling of the body is relieved, and every symptom passes away. S. S. S. goes to the very root of the trouble, and by purifying PURELY VEGETABLE. and enriching the blood and building up the entire system, cures Catarrh permanently. If you have Catarrh do not waste time with local remedies, but begin S. S. S.

and write for our book and any medical advice without charge.

MEMBERS OF A FAMILY BORN IN FEBRUARY.

A father and a mother, three daughters and a son, all born during February, will celebrate their birthdays on February 25th with a huge birthday party and reception, to which several hundred guests have been invited. The singular family, whose births all occurred in one menth, is that of Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Drucker of 1800 North Tenth street, one of the most prominent German families in the northern part of the city.

The singularity of births is not confined to the six collectively, for both mother and daughter and father and daughter were born on same dates. The remaining births occurred on dates but a few days apart. The mother, who is 5, years old, was born on February 8, 1853, while her 19-year-old daughter Jennie was born on the same date in 1881. Mr. Drucker, 69 years old, was born on February 38, 1837. Fifty-one years later, on the same date, Nanon, now 18 years old, was born. The two remaining children, Flora and Albert, were born on February 11, 1839, and February 15, 1890, respectively.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

EVERY SICK MAN

Body of an American Woman Is Found in the Seine.

PARIS March 7 .- The Prefecture of Police has requested the American authorities to assist in unraveling the mysterious death of Ethel A. Brown, believed to be an American, whose body was found recently in the River Seine. A boatman discovered the body floating near the suburb of Charenton.

It appeared to be that of a woman of means, and was elegantly dressed. The underclothes were embroidered with the name "Ethel A. Brown." On the hands were two gold rings; she wore pearl earrings, a gold lorgnette was suspended from a chain around her neck, and she had kid gloves on her hands. No money or papers were found on the body and there was a deep wound five inches long across the i

The police are unable to decide whether the wound was the result of an attack or of an intentional blow. The body apparently had been in the water several weeks. The first clue to the identity of the woman was the following entry made in 1903 on the police records of foreigners visiting Paris; "Ettle Brown, American, born at Fayetteville, November 21, 1872; father. John; mother, Sally Geachy," The entry indicates that the maiden name of the deceased was Ethel Geachy, The name of the state from which she came was not given.

The body remains at the morgue. The French and American officials are co-operating with the police in the endeavor to establish the identity of the

A number of tugs were secured and put to work to release her, but inasmuch as the steamer went on the mud flats when the tide was high nothing could be done. An iffort will be made to pull her off at the next high tide, but it is doubtful whether anything will be accomplished until this alternoon. The Bee, the other unfortunate, made connections with the mud bars just south of the Peralta-street slip and within a few hundred feet of the wreck of the Julette, while passing a creek fronte ferry-boat in the morning. She carries lumber for a local company, and late yesterday afternoon her deckload was bung transferred to a schooner. No trouble is anticipated about her release at the mxi high tide.

The steemer Greenwood discharged several thousand feet of lumber at the city wharf yesterday morning for the Hayward Lumber Company at Hayward. The tug-local Waiter Hackett is at the feison-street dock.

A soldiet special will leave the West Cakland yards tomorrow morning, carrying soldlers from the Presidio to various points.
